In an environment of unprecedented and serious attacks against Christianity, what are we doing to work with other Christians, to defend the faith, and what can we individually do as Disciples of Christ to protect, preserve and promote His church in our own personal Jerusalem's where we live? Learn about joint efforts with other Christian denominations and explore your own personal calling of discipleship.

Bill currently serves on the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of America Legal Committee and served on the Archdiocesan Council and Archdiocese National Stewardship Ministries. He was the Co-Chairman of the 2010 Archdiocese Clergy Laity Congress in Atlanta.

For the last 8+ years, Bill has traveled throughout the country, logged over 180,000 miles as a "stewardship and strategic planning evangelist" inspiring parishes and parishioners to understand what true Orthodox Christian stewardship is, how to live their stewardship calling and how to reorganize and re-energize their Parish.
